"THE HISTORY OF GREAT FRENCH CUISINE HAS ALWAYS MADE ME DREAM"

My culinary identity has been shaped by France its timeless heritage and its legendary chefs such as Antonin Carême, Auguste Escoffier and Jules Goffe.

For my restaurant, I wanted to pay tribute to French cuisine through the flavours of yesteryear.

Enjoy the work of our artisans and producers as you discover a culinary vision that pays homage to Paris, the city of light and the city of celebration. It's accompanied by traditional French-style service under the careful direction of Denis Courtiade.

"ONCE UPON A TIME"

THE LOBSTER À LA PARISIENNE As elegant and beautiful to look at as "Les Parisiennes". These are lobsters, langoustes, langoustines... cooked in court-bouillon, then refreshed and served with vegetables and a creamy mayonnaise. These excellent shellfish, prepared in this way, used to be found on the shelves of all the delicatessens and fishmongers at the Halles de Paris.

THE GREEN ASPARAGUS VICHYSOISE Invented in 1917 by Louis Diat, a French chef working at the Ritz-Carlton in New York, this chilled soup, inspired by a favourite recipe from his childhood, became a much-loved antidote to sweltering New York summers.

THE CATHERINE DE MEDICI'S FOIE GRAS Catherine de Medici was well-known to have a passion for fine dining, so we've included a version of this favourite French delicacy that's fit for royalty.

THE BRIOCHE MARIE-ANTOINETTE CAVIAR This light, airy brioche is named after Marie-Antoinette, famously reputed to have said "Let them eat cake!" when people protested a lack of bread.

THE DUGLÉRE TOMATOES SEA BASS Recipe by the famous French chef Adolphe Dugléré, born in Bordeaux in 1805, and son of Jean Dugléré. He became a pupil of the illustrious Carême, then head chef to Baron Rothschild. He was a cultured man, from whom Alexandre Dumas père took advice on several occasions for his "Dictionnaire de cuisine".

THE CHICKEN IN A YELLOW WINE SAUCE AND MORELS A symbol of luxury and the extraordinary, this traditional recipe pays homage to the festive meals of the Franc-Comtois and Bresse kitchens, an ode to our regions and French terroirs: PDO free-range poultry, farmhouse butter, heavy cream, vin jaune and wild Jura morels...

THE LAMB IN A NAVARIN STEW The 'navarin' term would be linked to October 20th 1827 battle in the Greek port of Navarino in the Peloponnese where the British, Russian and French coalition fleets inflicted a crushing defeat on the Turkish-Egyptian fleet. To celebrate this historical victory, one of the admirals then ordered that the next day's meal be improved. His chef was inspired by the Turkish mutton pilaw to create a new recipe by replacing the ordinary rice with a variety of colourful vegetables.
